

Robert Hubbard

Regional Vice President, AIC

Robert Hubbard is a Regional Vice President (West) at Analysts International Corporation (AIC). As a Regional Vice President, Robert is responsible for leading the support of clients in their staffing and solutions needs and growing divisional sales to align with corporate goals. Robert works closely with the Managing Directors of the Western U.S. field offices.

An executive with extensive leadership and hands-on experience, Robert has worked within organizations to grow revenue and profitability, build effective management teams, foster exemplary customer service, and inspire a high-intensity, entrepreneurial environment.

Prior to joining the AIC team, Robert was the Senior Vice President of Snelling Professional Services where he was responsible for all company-owned staffing offices (Commercial, Technical, and Healthcare). He was also accountable for driving profitability for U.S. branch and onsite locations, including new business development and operations.

Robert is a broad-gauged visionary with exceptional initiative and record of accomplishment in organizations ranging from start-up to multi-billion dollar, multi-national companies. He holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration and Marketing Management from Oklahoma State University.
